1. What is an Order for Protection OFP?

Under Minnesota Statute 518B.01, an Order for Protection is a civil court order issued to protect family or household members from domestic abuse. Filing an OFP in Minnesota requires no court filing fee.

2. Emergency Ex Parte Relief

If there is an immediate and present danger of domestic abuse, you may request an emergency Ex Parte order. A judge can review and sign this order without prior notice to the respondent, granting temporary physical protection, exclusive occupancy of residence, and restraining contact.

3. Phumulani Court Accompaniment

Phumulani advocates accompany immigrant and refugee survivors to Hennepin, Ramsey, and suburban district court hearings. Bilingual support in Somali, Oromo, Amharic, and Spanish is available.

4. Critical Safety Notice

Keep certified copies of your OFP with you at all times, in your vehicle, and on file with your children’s schools or childcare providers. If violated, call 911 immediately.
